Lawrence A. Deinlein

LAWRENCE A. DEINLEIN

Lawrence A. Deinlein, 47, passed away at the home of his brother, George Deinlein, last night after an illness of several months. Mr. Deinlein was born in Hatfield, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter and Margaret (Doppman) Deinlein, and made his home in that town all his life. Mr. Deinlein has been greatly interested in all the progress of Hatfield. For a number of years Mr. Deinlein was a selectman and at the time of his death was one of the water commissioners. He was also chairman of the Democratic town committee. His death is a big loss to the town. Mr. Deinlein was a member of St. Joseph church of Hatfield and an active member of the Archbishop Williams' 4th degree of K. of C., and also of Northampton council Knights of Columbus. He was popular among his associates and willing at all times to assist others. He was taken ill in September. Mr. Deinlein was a contractor-carpenter for a number of years. He leaves his brother, George A. Deinlein of West Hatfield; one sister, Mrs. Jacob Die-mand of Bay State, and one niece and two nephews. Mr. Deinlein never married. The funeral will be held from the J. H. Quinn funeral parlors, 98 Pleasant street, Saturday morning at 8 o'clock, followed by a high Mass of requiem at St. Joseph's church, Hatfield, at 9 o'clock. Burial will be in the family plot in St. Mary's cemetery, Northampton.

Present

GRADUATION TONIGHT

Hatfield, June 20 — The Smith academy graduating class held its Class day exercises in Memorial town hall last evening before an audience of more than 600 parents and friends. Edward Maksimoski, class president, presided, and opened the program with the following address of welcome:

"In behalf of the graduating class of 1935 I wish to welcome all parents and friends. Four years we have spent in these halls of Smith academy and for four years we have labored to complete our course, each to the best of his powers. It is fitting that we should enjoy these last days, but we shall enjoy them the more if you share them with us. As we welcome you we fully realize that we could never have arrived at this important point in our lives without your unselfish assistance and counsel.

Fathers and Mothers. To you we extend our deepest gratitude, for it is through your aid—perhaps through your sacrifice—that we have reached this day which means so much in our lives.

Members of the Faculty. We take this opportunity to express our thanks for the excellent training which we have received through your patience and skill. Your high ideals of scholarship and of citizenship, which have been our guides through our school life, will be of infinite value to us in our future undertakings.

To all of you, who by your presence show your interest in us, we extend a sincere welcome. We hope that this interest will follow us through the years that are to come, and that it will be justified by what we may do.

We are very glad to have you before us, the largest class to graduate from Smith academy in its history. We appreciate this honor greatly, and we will endeavor to have the largest number go out into the world and make fame for themselves.

In our program we review for you our years in Smith academy, take an imaginative glimpse into the future, and then a last farewell to Smith academy before we leave to build up a real future for ourselves.

There is a fine spirit of comradeship floating in the air among our classmates as our program progresses. In this, our last informal meeting as a high school class, and may it be an enjoyable one. And so—to you all, through whose inspiration and unflinching sympathy we have realized a dream, we say—"Welcome to our Class Night." Class History Given

The class history was presented briefly in a rhyming chronicle by the following girls: Helen Blyda, Sue Yurik, Jennie Szewczyk, Helen Karpinski and Mary Ann Jandzinski. A clever humorous sketch, featuring gifts to the graduates, was presented by the class shoppers, Charles Gocloski and Julia Jablonski, and Paul Petcen and Anna Zapka, who caused many laughs during their sketch. In a pretty and effective skit, "Class Statistics," Stafia Filipek and Julia Krukoski gave the Who's Who of 1935, and presented each graduate with a flower and the card bearing the rhymed statistics.

The next number featured the "1935 Troubadors," the popular ballad singers, Anthony F. Wesolowski, Netsick Kugler and Charles Zgrodnik. Wesolowski with his guitar and Zgrodnik with his harmonica played old-time favorites, and the trio sang to guitar accompaniment a number of popular western melodies. The prophecy, "Reunion in 1955," was presented in the form of a humorous sketch by Agnes Blyda, Rachel Marsh and Catherine Bitner, busy with reunion plans in a hotel room in a distant city. The prophecy on the prophets was given by Bernard Marcinowski, Charles Smith and Edward Lovett, who gave a sketch in which they whiled away the time by peering into the future in a magic bowl found on a lonely island where they were marooned. An amusing will, with many and generous bequests, was given by Laura Jaworoski, Christine Vachula and Elizabeth Zapka.

Address to Undergraduates

Then came the address to the undergraduates, given by Henry Kulesa, who spoke as follows:

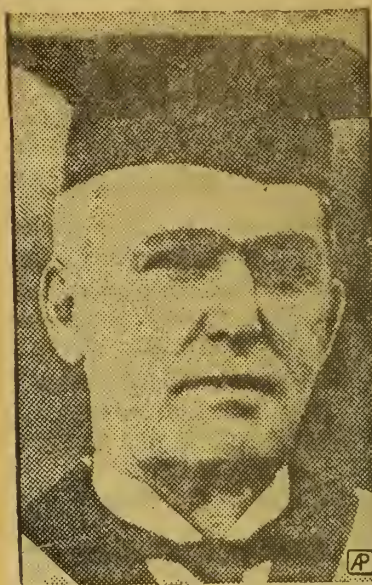

"A few weeks ago I read an article entitled 'Lincoln Never Stopped Learning.' It was such an inspiring article that I am going to try, tonight, to pass on to you, briefly its message. The article opened with these words from Herbert Agar's book, 'People's Choice.'

"Lincoln never stopped learning. There were no years of education in his life, to be followed by years of experience. The two went side by side. He was always learning, always increasing in wisdom. At 40, the change that had come over him astonished an eastern lawyer who had not seen him for ten years. At 50, he was twice the man he had been at 40. His greatest speeches were made in the last two years of his life. He was the most sincerely thoughtful man America has produced, probably the wisest in sympathy and understanding."

For the years of schooling that remain before you in Smith academy, and perhaps in other schools, here is an ideal to hold before yourselves—like Lincoln, never stop learning. Students often forget, in the busy days of their high school course, that they are being offered an opportunity that is priceless. Through organized studies, they have a chance to acquire knowledge in the quickest and easiest ways possible. Lincoln's formal schooling was very scant. It was not in his teens nor even in

59 ATTENDANT NURSES QUALIFY

Association Coners Diplomas from Training School

NO RIGID LABOR CODE FOR CALLING

The needs of the patient, rather than a code arbitrarily controlling the number of hours that a nurse may work, is still the great principle that governs the spirit of nursing, Miss Elizabeth Ross of West Newton, president of the Massachusetts State Nurses Association, emphasized last night in an address at the Copley Methodist Church when 59 young women were graduated from the Training School for Attendant Nurses, conducted by the Household Nursing Association.

"While the NRA recognizes this fact, every effort will be made to approach reasonable working conditions for those in the nursing service," she continued. "Humanitarian work, however, cannot be handicapped by labor codes."

NUMBER OF GRADUATES

The number of graduates is considerably lower this year owing to the efforts of the association to control the supply of attendant nurses through more careful selection of applicants to the school. In this connection, Miss Katharine Shepard, superintendent of the association, who also addressed the graduates, said in part, "While it is true that there is as yet insufficient work for all nurses, there continues to be a definite need for attendant nurses, whose work combines the care of the home with that of the patient. We are hopeful that better times will enable a larger number of families of moderate means to avail themselves of such services."

Although they have received their diplomas, the graduates will remain with the Household Association to be placed on private duty cases of mild, chronic or convalescent sickness. Their course in household care and cooking was taken at the school centre on Newbury street, while their training in bedside care was received at small general hospitals affiliated with the Household Association.

Mrs. Charles A. Newhall of Brookline, president of the association, presided, and Mrs. J. Randolph Coolidge, 3d, a director, also of Brookline, presented the diplomas. The prayer was offered by the pastor of the church, Dr. Edward Eliot.

Guests included members of the association board of directors and the hospital superintendents. Following the exercises, a reception to graduates and guests was held in the church parlors.

LIST OF GRADUATES

The graduates, as follows, are listed according to hospitals where they took part of their training:

Norwood Hospital—Henriette Abel, Hyde Park; Margaret Burke, Watertown; Julia Dolan, Worcester; Dagmar Eckholm, Norwood; Esther Horton, Allston; Ellen Mackie, Norwood; Ruth MacKenzie, Cambridge; Agnes MacTague, Watertown; Mildred Swenson, Mt. Vernon, Me.; Sylvia Travers, Worcester; Doris Urquhart, Marlboro; Ann Ward, Providence, R. I.

Winthrop Hospital—Lillian Day, Concord; Mildred Jackson, Amherst, N. H.; Dorothy Jandzinski, West Hatfield; Julia Jandzinski, West Hatfield; Sadie McNulty, Boston; Yvonne Pare, New Bedford; Hazel Sanderson, North Andover; Georgia Woodruff, Belmont.

Mary Lane Hospital, Ware—Juliette Fauteux, New Bedford; Constance Mehan, Somerville; Margaret O'Byrne, Watertown; Moore Hospital, Brockton—Elsie Birdseye.

The needs of the patient, rather than a code arbitrarily controlling the number of hours that a nurse may work,

MISS ELIZABETH ROSS
President of Massachusetts State Nurses' Association

is still the great principle that governs the spirit of nursing, said Miss Elizabeth Ross of West Newton, president of the Massachusetts State Nurses' Association, speaking last night at Copley Methodist Church, when 59 young women were graduated from the Training School for Attendant Nurses, conducted by the Household Nursing Association.

"While the N. R. A. recognizes this fact, every effort will be made to approach reasonable working conditions for those in the nursing service," she continued. "Humanitarian work, however, cannot be handicapped by labor codes."

Miss Katharine Shepard, superintendent of the association, who also addressed the graduates, said in part: "While it is true that there is as yet insufficient work for all nurses, there continues to be a definite need for attendant nurses, whose work combines the care of the home with that of the patient. We are hopeful that better times will enable a larger number of families of moderate means to avail themselves of such services."

Mrs. Charles A. Newhall of Brookline, president of the association, presided, and Mrs. J. Randolph Coolidge, 3d, a director, also of Brookline, presented the diplomas. The prayer was offered by Dr. Edward Eliot.

Guests included members of the association board of directors and the hospital superintendents. After the exercises a reception to graduates and guests was held in the church parlors.

The graduates, listed according to hospitals where they took part of their training are:

Norwood Hospital—Henriette Abel, Hyde Park; Margaret Burke, Watertown; Julia Dolan, Worcester; Dagmar Eckholm, Norwood; Esther Horton, Allston; Ellen Mackie, Norwood; Ruth MacKenzie, Cambridge; Agnes MacTague, Watertown; Mildred Swenson, Mt. DYNAMITE BLAST FOLLOWS FIRE IN HATFIELD SHEDS

Many Awakened by Sound of Explosion as Flames Sweep Two Barns in Jericho Section.

HATFIELD, Nov. 16—An explosion of five sticks of dynamite in a burning tobacco shed in the Jericho section on the Depot Road awakened residents of this town and many persons in Hadley and Northampton at about 3 Sunday morning. Two tobacco sheds owned by Ignacy Jandzinski on the Depot Road, between Hatfield Center and West Hatfield, burned to the ground. The cause of the blaze is undetermined.

The dynamite was in one of the sheds, the owner using it for blasting stumps in a nearby lot which he was clearing. Both sheds were filled with tobacco and the owner also lost tools and farming implements which were stored there. No estimate of the loss was available tonight.

The alarm was sounded at 2.45 o'clock. The firemen made a quick run, but found both sheds in flames and the fire too far advanced to save the buildings. A shed belonging to John G. Smith, about 50 feet from the burning barns, was threatened. The firemen used the 100-gallon booster tank on the fire truck and prevented the flames from spreading to the Smith barn in which there were two and one half acres of tobacco hanging.

There were no hydrants near the fire, which necessitated that the truck be driven to Depot Road to refill the booster tank.

Fire Chief John T. Shea and his men were busy from 1 o'clock this morning until dawn, as shortly before 1 o'clock they were called to a fire which burned a small shed, the property of Mrs. John Kurasiewicz in Elm Street. It is believed that a grass fire started this blaze.

Ignace Jandzinski of Hatfield pleaded guilty to a charge of keeping dynamite without a license. He was fined $20. Two tobacco barns owned by Jandzinski in the Jericho section of Hatfield burned early Sunday morning, Nov. 15, and several sticks of dynamite in one of the barns which he had been using to blast stumps, exploded.

The Misses Julia and Agnes Yanginski entertained in their home in North Street Wednesday at a miscellaneous shower for Miss Mary Fugliola of Northampton in honor of her approaching marriage to their brother, Joseph Yanginski. There were 50 present. There was a social hour, during which a mock marriage was performed, with Miss Clementina Jandzinski as the bride, Miss Josephine Lizak as the bridegroom and Miss Katherine Lizak the clergyman.

Principal Richard O. Burrill of Smith Academy announces that the public is invited to attend the junior prize speaking contest to be held in Academy Hall at 2 o'clock Wednesday and Thursday afternoons of this week. The junior contest is held as a preliminary to the annual alumni prize speaking contest, the date of which will be announced later. Those who will speak this week are Beatrice Balise, James Belden, Gertrude Boyle, Helen Boyle, Edward Dwight, Margaret Hayes, Katherine Howard, Dorothy Jandzinski, Herman Labbee, Elizabeth Osley, Robert Ryan, Edward Smith, Doris Smith, Margaret Stoddard and Barbara Wight.

Hatfield

HATFIELD, June 26—The first concert of the Hatfield Plectral Ensemble was given in Smith Academy Hall Tuesday evening under the direction of Joseph F. Pizzitola. The young people gave an excellent performance, and the selections by the guest soloists—Miss Rose Helen Pizzitola, Robert Ezold, Frank Wagenknecht and Leonard Robbins, and the Pizzitola Strummers, helped to make a pleasing program. A special feature was a tap dance by Anna Lovett and Gertrude Whalen. The Hatfield class comprises James Belden, Helen Boyle, Eleanor Breor, Catherine Cernak, Margaret A. Hayes, Margaret W. Hayes, Katherine Howard, Dorothy Jandzinski, Lucian Markowski, Jennie Mlastkowski, Elizabeth Osley, Samuel Proulx, Margaret Stoddard, Susie Vachula, Bernard Wilkes, Thomas Yarrows, Gertrude Boyle, Elizabeth Breor, Ruth Cutter, Robert Deinlein, Clara Donnis, Helen McHugh, Herbert Smith, Virginia Barbour, Murray Belden, Edna Boyle, Mary Kempisty, Anna Lovett, Margaret Lovett, Ruth Pease, Mary Smith, Robert Smith, Mary Yarrows, Gertrude Whalen and Edward Lovett.

HATFIELD, April 17—The agricultural students of Smith Academy have constructed an incubator room in the School Street building. This room, which adjoins the farm work-shop, is 18x10, and is sheathed with sheet rock, thus making it absolutely fire-proof. Four incubators are now installed and there is room for eight more machines. Two machines are in operation at the present time, and being cared for by the senior group.

All the town's schools closed today for the regular term vacation, and will reopen Monday, April 28. Pupils not absent for the month of March in the West Hatfield grammar school were: Peter Betsold, Clifford Dwight, Philip Dippolt, Leonard Deinlein, Leon Farrell, Walter Korza, Samuel Osley, Thomas Osley, Paul Yurik, Elizabeth Bruscoe, Lillian Deinlein, Mary Jandzinski, Marjorie Strong and Susie Yurik.

TRIP TO WASHINGTON

May 27.—Mr. and Mrs. Michael Saydlowski and family wish to express their sincere appreciation for the many kindnesses from neighbors and friends at the time and since the fire that destroyed their home recently. Especially do they appreciate the good work by the fire department during the fire.

Miss Ann Haveli, sister of Rev. M. M. Haveli, who has been a guest in the parsonage, has gone to Bridgeport, Ct., for a visit and will later return to her home in Boonville, N. J.

The Misses Clementine and Mary Jandzinski leave Saturday morning for a week-end visit with their sisters, the Misses Julia and Dorothy, who are in training in the Winthrop Community hospital in Boston.

Household Arts Girls Entertain

The Smith academy household arts girls, with their household arts instructor, Mrs. Marion D. Glasheen, and home hygiene instructor, Miss Marian L. Holmes, school nurse, entertained in honor of their mothers and the sub-freshmen Friday evening. The department rooms contained exhibits of the girls' handiwork, and refreshments of punch, sandwiches and cookies made by the girls, were served. The exhibit of sewing included three types of dresses, cotton dress, woolen dress and party dress; pajama ensembles, underwear of all types, sewing cases and samples of darning, patching, bound seams, bound buttonholes, fagoting and various smocking stitches. Other exhibits included a display of homemade soap, a group of Christmas novelties, drawings and diagrams illustrating the correct arrangement and furnishing of the kitchen and other rooms. In first aid work, learned in the home hygiene class, under the instruction of Miss Holmes, the following demonstrations were given: Splint for broken wrist and sling, Mary Ann Jandzinski and Stafia Filipek; long arm dressing, Amelia Kurasiewicz and Susie Yurik; bandage for head, Jennie Szcweczyk and Sophie Nartowicz; chin bandage, Helen Jablonski and Frances Baceski; sprained ankle bandage, Julia Krukoski and Virginia Bielecki. The exhibit and demonstration were visible proof of the excellent practical training the girls have been receiving during their course, and were enthusiastically praised by the guests.

Girls Give Entertainment

The sophomore household arts girls of Smith academy gave an entertaining assembly program Friday afternoon in Memorial town hall, under the direction of their instructor, Mrs. Marian D. Glasheen. A play, "This Modern Generation," was the main feature. Frances Kosakowski announced the following cast: "Grandma Ballinger," Genevieve Banack; Mrs. Ballinger, Sue Yurik; Mary, her daughter, Julia Krukoski; Sarah, Jennie Szewczyk; Agnes, Mary Ann Jandzinski; Lucy, Stafia Filippek; other girl friends, Frances Baceski, Virginia Bielecki and Helen Jablonski; class mascot, Verna Skorupski. The players gave a good presentation, as members of the modern generation. Grandma Ballinger, who is living with her daughter, is amazed at the antics of the younger generation. Mary is a vivacious girl of 15 whose chief interest in life is parties and good times, with continual waiting-on by her mother. The criticisms of the grandmother lead Mary to take a course in home economics "to keep peace in the family." The satisfactory change in her mode of living and increased happiness are shown in the last two acts of the play, when Mary is redecorating her home and giving the class party. The class mascot, little Verna Skorupski, was loudly applauded as she appeared in the party scene. Between the acts "An Ode to Posture" was given by Frances Baceski, with the pantomime given by Virginia Bielecki; and Helen Jablonski gave a recitation, "Menus of Yesterday and Today."

Hampshire League Banquet Tonight

March 20—The annual banquet of the Hampshire Basketball league will be held this evening at 6 o'clock in Memorial town hall. An attendance of over 100 is expected, including players, coaches, managers and faculty representatives of the six schools in the league. The following menu will be served by the Smith academy household arts girls, under the direction of their instructor, Mrs. Marian D. Glasheen: Grapefruit, baked Virginia ham, escalloped potatoes, cabbage salad, celery, olives, rolls, ice cream and cake, coffee, nuts and mints. The following girls will act as waitresses: Helen Baranoski, Wanda Jaworowski, Marjorie Strong, Fannie Yanucik, Minnie Zawadski, Helen Olszewski, Frances Kosokowski, Virginia Kusekoski, Jennie Piekarski and Celia Dugal; and those in charge of preparing the meal will be Helen Jablonski, Frances Baceski, Jennie Szewczyk, Julia Krukoski, Genevieve Banack, Mary Jandzinski, Susie Yurik, Virginia Bielecki and Stafia Filippek. Principal Hiram F. Battey of South Deerfield high school, president of the league, will preside, and the silver cup presented by Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute will be awarded to Smith academy, winner of the league championship for 1933.

The funeral of Michael Domaradzki was held this morning at 8.30 from his late home on Chestnut street, followed by a high Mass of requiem in Holy Trinity church at 9 o'clock, with Rev. Joseph Stanczyk, the pastor, officiating. St. Michael's society and the Polish Alliance, group 1965, Theodore Koscuiskzi, to which Mr. Domaradzki belonged, marched in a body to the church. The bearers were: Wacław Januzik, Frank Lapinski and Joseph Jandzinski, all members of the Koscuiskzi society, and Baltzar J. Gocloski, Anthony Novak and Joseph Krzykowski, all members of St. Michael's society. Burial was in the family lot in St. Mary's cemetery, Northampton, with Fr. Stanczyk conducting services at the grave.

Boy Struck by Auto

March 6 — Joseph Troynowski, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Troynowski of Bradstreet, was struck by an automobile driven by Miss Clementine Jandzinski of Elm street, Northampton, at 5.30 last night. Young Troynowski was crossing the road near his home, going to get his milk, and Miss Jandzinski was going north on the River road when he was struck. She took him to the office of Dr. A. J. Bonneville on Main street, and Police Chief Arthur R. Breor investigated. Troynowski was taken to Dickinson hospital in Northampton, where it was found he had a slight concussion of the brain.

Immunize 350 Children Against Diphtheria

Under the supervision of Dr. Harold W. Miner, state health officer, 350 children ranging in ages from six months to 12 years were immunized against diphtheria yesterday in the auditorium of Memorial town hall, at the first of a series of three clinics. The first procession of school children arrived at 9 o'clock, and for the next two hours Dr. Miner injected the diphtheria toxin into 350 arms. The response to the campaign on the part of parents of pre-school and school age children was gratifying to Dr. Miner and his corps of assistants. One hundred children of pre-school age were brought into yesterday's clinic, many small babies in their mothers' arms. There were 56 from the Center school, 48 from the School street building, 48 from Bradstreet, 55 from the Hill, 27 from West Hatfield and 16 from North Hatfield. Assisting Dr. Miner were: Dr. A. J. Bonneville and Dr. C. A. Byrne of this town, Miss Marian Holmes, school nurse; Mrs. Marian D. Glasheen, household arts instructor in Smith academy, and the following household arts girls, who are pupils in the home hygiene and first aid classes: Genevieve Banack, Virginia Blelecki, Stafia Filipek, Helen Jablonski, Julia Krukowski, Jennie Szewczyk, Helen Baranowski, Cecelia Dugal, Mary Ann Jandzinski, Wanda Jaworoski, Frances Kosakowski, Virginia Kusekoski, Helen Olszewski, Jennie Piekarski, Marjorie Strong, Fannie Yanucik, Frances Baceski and Susie Yurik. The children from the outside schools were transported by bus by John N. Hafey of Whately, and local transportation was taken care of by John W. Mullins, chairman of the board of health, Chief of Police Arthur R. Breor, and Arthur C. Bardwell, chairman of the school board.

Eastman, county agent, and his assistant, Miss Bessie L. Derosia, are in charge of the program, which will begin at 10.30 o'clock in the morning. Boys and girls attending will be lined up according to their ages with a divisional leader at the head of five groups. The divisional leaders will be Harold W. Eastman, Miss Edith Derosia of Williamsburg, Miss Agnes Waszkiewicz of Hadley, George Simmons, Jr., of Amherst and Benton Cummings of Ware both members of the Hampshire county 4-H service club. There will be 45 members of the 4-H service club also assisting in the day's activities. The various groups and their leaders will march onto the baseball field in groups, and will play games there until noon. Picnic lunch will be from noon until 12.30, and from 12.30 to 2 games will be played on the park equipment. The dress revue will be held from 2 to 2.30. The Smith academy girls are especially interested in this feature; Frances Kosakowski will enter the sport dress contest, Marjorie Strong and Wanda Jaworoski the school dress contest and Mary Jandzinski, Julia Krukoski and Jennie Szweczyk the informal party dress contest. The 4-H club girls all over the county have been busy for weeks making these dresses, which will be worn in the revue. The judges will be Misses Caroline Worthington and Miss Stacia Krasnecki, both of the home economics department at Massachusetts State college in Amherst. After the revue George Simmons, Jr., will lead in group singing, and the names of five girls and five boys, to be delegates to Camp Gilbert, held this summer at the State college, will be announced. The names of two boys and two girls who are to go to Camp Howe as guests of the Northampton Kiwanis club will also be announced.

WEST HATFIELD

Eighth Grade Has Graduation Exercises

The eighth grade of West Hatfield school held its graduation exercises yesterday afternoon at 2.30. The pupils had very prettily decorated Mr. Ford's room for the occasion. Colors were pink and green, the decorations being laurel, ferns and crepe paper, giving the room a festive appearance. This was also a farewell party to the school building, for the present, since the intention is to close the building next year and transfer the children by bus to Hatfield. Miss Osley's children opened the program with an "Address of Welcome," by Janet Mullins; song, "In Holland," by all the children; "A Dutch Boy and Girl," by James Mullins and Lillian Zapka, in costume; song, "Windmills," by the school; play, "We Like Windmills;" children taking part: Sue, Peggy Deinlein; Billy, John Dippolt; Hans, Hantley Brusco; Greta, Florence Dippolt; Three Windmills in Play, Lillian Zapka, Mary Kania, Anna Bucala; wind, Roger Korza; sail boat, Lillian Kendeerska. This was followed by four boys singing "A Vacation Song," in costume, Roger, Korza, Hantley Brusco, John Dippolt, James Mullins. Mr. Ford's grammar children then sang a "Song of Remembrance," followed by a play in three acts, Polly's Troubles. Characters: Freddie and Flossie, twins, John Podmayerski and Gladys Mullins; Patsy, their sister, Elizabeth Bucala; Susan, another sister, Mildred Bruscoe; Polly, the older sister, Rachel Fay; Jimmy, a neighbor's boy, George Bucala; Jean, a neighbor's girl, Dorothy Mullins; Nancy, Polly's girl friend, Elizabeth Bruscoe; Mrs. Adams, inquisitive neighbor, Helen Korza; the delivery, Herman Strong; Grandmother Gray, Uncle Silas' housekeeper, Anna Mullins; Uncle Silas, a kind hearted uncle from the farm, John Jandzinski; song, Forget-Me-Not, grammar school; farewell song, by both schools. Graduates to receive diplomas were: Rachel Fay, Gertrude Korza, Elizabeth Bruscoe, Anna Mullins. Pupils having a perfect record were: Hantley Bruscoe, Rachel Fay, Dorothy Mullins.

GRADUATION AT SMITH ACADEMY

Dr. Hugh Baker Is
Speaker; Prizes
Announced and 29 Diplomas
Awarded

PUPILS READ ESSAYS

Hatfield, June 21—A class of 29 boys and girls was graduated from Smith academy last night, with impressive exercises held in Memorial town hall before a capacity audience. The graduates marched down the center aisle to their places on the stage, with the procession played by the school orchestra, under the direction of their leader, Joseph F. Pizzitola. After the orchestral selections, the school chorons, under the direction of Miss Maude E. Boyle, supervisor of music, gave a splendid rendition of "Largo," by Handel, and "The House by the Side of the Road," by Foss-Gulesien. The three honor students delivered addresses on subjects related to the theme of the commencement exercises, the Tercentenary of American Secondary Education. Helen Donnis, salutatorian, gave "The First American High School"; Anthony J. Wesolowski, third honor student, took for his subject, "The Academy Era in Secondary Education," and Dorothy Boyle, valedictorian, spoke on "Smith Academy — Past, Present and Future."

The Girls' Glee club sang two selections, "Friendship," Gounod-Bach, and "June," Daniels.

Dr. Baker Speaks

Roswell G. Billings, president of the board of trustees of the academy, then presented Dr. Hugh P. Baker, president of Massachusetts State college, who delivered the commencement address. Dr. Baker took for his subject, "Applying the Rules of the Road and Good Sportsmanship to the Problems of Life." He drew from his 10 years' experience in business organizations and trade associations, and his experience in forestry, as well as from this work as an educator, in pointing out the fact that a happy personal life and a usefully social life may be realized if one obeys the "rules of the road," with good sportsmanship. He told the graduates that they are going out into the world at the most interesting period of history; the depression clouds are lifting, and all thinking men and women are conscious of the mistakes caused by greed and selfishness, rather than honest observance of rules of good sportsmanship. He showed that these rules apply to physical, mental and social development. The one who keeps in prime condition physically finds the problem of getting along with others and getting along with himself much simpler, Dr. Baker told the young people. Mentally, one follows the rules when he strives for intellectual honesty, has the courage to stand up for what he believes, and makes an effort to fit his life into what he believes is the best in the world around him. If the rules are applied socially, in the midst of much muddled thinking, respect for honest opinion will make for more satisfactory living as a people. He closed with an expression of confidence in the youth of today, who are thinking as never before, about the serious problems of living, and who are receiving from schools the stimulus to take a courageous stand in facing these problems.

Awards Announced

Principal E. J. Burke then announced the following awards: Pro Merito pins presented to Dorothy Boyle, Helen Donnis, Laura Jaworoski, Christine Vachula, Anthony J. Wesolowski and Edward Maksimoski; the name to be inscribed on the George S. Belden shield, as the boy who during the year contributed most to Smith academy by his "earnest work, manly bearing and interest in athletics," Edward Maksimoski, class president; the name to be inscribed on the Class of 1927 shield for contributing the most to the school by her "earnest work, exemplary conduct and interest in student activities," Dorothy Boyle; a Washington-Franklin medal given for excellence in United States history, Dorothy Boyle; and the faculty cup, awarded to the class showing the best school spirit, the class of 1936, and received by the president, Donald Slattery. After the announcements Mr. Billings presented the diplomas, and then the chorus sang "Gypsy Night" by Ganne. The formal program closed with the school song. Miss Catherine Schepp was accompanist for all the singing. At the close of the program flowers were presented in behalf of the class to Miss Boyle, supervisor of music; Miss Nolan and Miss Ryan, class advisers. The presentation speeches were made by Edward Maksimoski, Bernard Marcinowski and Henry Kulesa, who expressed the appreciation of their classmates for the helpful work of the three teachers in preparing the program.

The Graduates

Members of the class are: Catherine Helen Bitner, Agnes Mary Blyda, Helen Marie Blyda, Dorothy Mary Boyle, Helen Donnis, Stafia Theresa Filipek, Charles George Gocloski, Bernard Thomas Godin, Julia Theresa Jablonski, Mary Ann Jandzinski, Laura Mary Jaworoski, Helen G. B. Wesolowski, Anthony J. Wesolowski, Sue Yurik, Charles Joseph Zagrodnik, Anna Zapka and Elizabeth Zapka. Their class motto was: "What You Do, Do Well;" the class colors were blue and gold, the class flower was the yellow tea rose. The stage decorations included large baskets of cut flowers and ferns, and the class motto, in Latin, was done in gold letters on a blue background, at the back of the stage. Decorations were in charge of the junior class, under the direction of Coach John R. Kalloch, class adviser, and members of the junior class were in charge of ushering.

Eighth Grade Graduation

The following pupils were graduated yesterday from the Center school eighth grade: Stacia Slys, Toffeld Wilkes, John Burda, Edward Breor, Frank Filipek, Bernard Szepelac, Chester Skorupski, Janet Sawiski, Alec Kuzontkoski, Walter Harubin, Lewis Wensolowski, Bertha Kociela, Rose Rogalewski, Alex Szewczyk, Mildred Zapka, Elleen Mullins, Betty Duga, Fred Zehelski, Edward Rejniak, Michael Winskye, Helen Burda, Elizabeth Bucala, Mildred Bruscoe, Thaddeus Bokina, Henry Donnis, Lillian Englehart, John Jandzinski, Lucille Jablonski, Edward Jablonski, Francis Lovett, Harold Morse, Joseph Michzyluk, Gladys Mullins, Mary McGrath, Charles Marsh, Thaddeus Kabot, Mary Kireczyk, Blanche Gutfinski, John Podmayerski, Janet Kochan, Helen Prucnal, Jennie Petrikoski, Martha Zapka and Julia Ziezulewicz.

Senior Girls Win

The Smith academy senior girls defeated the sophomores to the tune of 15 to 14 yesterday afternoon in the fourth interclass game, played in Memorial town hall. The clever passing of Agnes Blyda, Julia Krukoski and Sue Yurek in the forecourt made the game a thriller. At half time the score stood 10 to 6, in favor of the sophomores. The clever shooting of Tola Kireczyk helped to roll up the sophomore score. The guarding of Julia Jablonski, Laura Jaworoski and Christine Vachula held the sophomores to two floor baskets in the last half. Sue Yurik and Julia Krukoski did some fine shooting in this half, to leave the sophomores on the short end of the final score. Included in the sophomore lineup were B. Szewczyk, Helen Harubin, Katherine Vachula, Mary Filipek, Tola Kireczyk and Marion Osepowicz; and the seniors had in their lineup: Julia Jablonski, Agnes Blyda, Laura Jaworoski, Julia Krukoski, Sue Yurik, Christine Vachula and Mary Ann Jandzinski. WEST HATFIELD

Mrs. Edson W. Strong
Jan. 21.—The uncertainty of life came to this community in a vivid way on Thursday evening with the sudden death of Mrs. Edson W. Strong. Mrs. Strong was one of the guests seated at the supper table being served by the Men's club of the Congregational church, when, suddenly becoming faint, she, with her sister, Mrs. Charles Wade, left the table and went into the adjoining parlor to seek fresh air at an open window. Dr. John J. Clark of Northampton, seated at the table, was called to the aid of Mrs. Strong, and very shortly Dr. Byrne joined him, but her life passed out almost in an instant. Her last words were "I'm going. Poor father!" meaning her husband, who because of poor health had not accompanied her to the supper. Mrs. Strong was ever helpful in the neighborhood in which she lived and in the community and church life, always found where need was, but in her home she shone supreme for she was a wonderful home maker, caring for the members of her family and those she loved joyously and apparently tirelessly. Of late months Mr. and Mrs. Strong have taken into their home two little girls and have bestowed on them the love and care due to little people. In years to come "Aunt Clara" will be to them a blessed memory. Words cannot tell of the sympathy felt for Mr. Strong in his great bereavement, for it was on her he has become increasingly dependent and she never failed him. Mrs. Strong was one of five children born to the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bardwell in West Whately, of these two are left to mourn her, Mrs. C. W. Wade of West Hatfield and Fred B. Bardwell of West Whately. The funeral will be in the home Sunday at 2.30 p. m. and burial in West Hatfield cemetery, Rev. O. E. Barnard officiating.

Will Take Part in Judging Contests

Smith academy will enter four teams in the annual M. S. C. judging contests to be held today and Saturday at Amherst. Smith academy students will take part in poultry, fruit, stock and vegetable judging contests, with the following teams entered: Fruit, Edward Jablonski, William Osciak and George Kukucka; poultry, A. Szewczyk, A. Kuzontkoski and Edward Rejniak; stock, Stanley Slivoski, Andrew Pelis and John Jandzinski; and vegetable, Michael Osley, Herman Strong and John Burda. Seventy-two entries, representing 15 schools, have been entered in these contests.

SMITH ACADEMY VS. GREENFIELD TOMORROW

Hatfield, Sept. 30 — The Smith academy soccer team, with four members of last season's crack eleven as the only veteran material available, will open its current soccer season on the Center school field here tomorrow afternoon at 3, when it stacks up against the strong Greenfield high soccer team. The local aggregation has been practising for the past two weeks on the reconditioned Center school athletic field, but Coach Johnnie Kalloch is having plenty of trouble banding together a formidable outfit. When questioned yesterday as to the team's strength, Kalloch said, "We'll have a soccer team, but how good it will be only time will tell. I've only four members of last year's first eleven around this year, but some of my freshman material shows promise of developing, and maybe about mid-season we'll be bowling over some of the leading clubs in this section." The local mentor is very pessimistic about his team's chances against such top-notch high school clubs as Williston, Holyoke, Cathedral, Hopkins, Deerfield academy, and St. Michael's, but Kalloch has always turned out good soccer teams in the past, and this season will in all probability once again find his club up among the leaders.

Smith academy will be well fortified at goal this season, for Connie Pelis, who guarded the net in most of last season's games, and who was one of the best goalies in high school circles, has been performing at goal in mid-season fashion for the past week, and is far ahead of his rivals for the post. The fullback and halfback positions are Kalloch's chief worries, but it is reasonably certain that Joe Filippek will be seen at one of the full back berths. Ernie Porter, who saw some service last fall, is slated for one of the halfback positions. The other two halfback berths will probably be filled by either Teddy Bokina and Jandzinski, two freshmen, or the Mullins cousins, Mark and John. Kalloch's front line will be made up of mostly veteran material, and the starting lineup on Tuesday will probably find Mark Boyle at the center forward position, Kirecyck and Johnson in the inside berths, and Mullany and Staszko working the outside positions. Skorupski, Podmayerski, Breo and Morse will also see some service in tomorrow's clash.

Enter Dairy Judging Contest

Ten agricultural students of Smith academy entered the dairy judging contest held at the Three County fair in Northampton last Thursday. Joseph Szala of Hopkins academy placed first in the individual judging, with a score of 195 points, while Stanley Slivowski of Smith academy won fourth place, with 188 points. Nine teams were entered in the team judging contest, with North high of Worcester placing first and Hopkins academy second. Smith academy placed sixth, with a team composed of Bernard Nyzio, Bernard Pelis and John Jandzinski.

Springfield Man Denies Charge Of Dangerous Driving

George Klerner of Springfield pleaded not guilty in district court this morning to a charge of dangerous driving and his case was continued until Dec. 16. The defendant was allegedly the driver of a car which struck Ignace Jandzinski, 75, of Hatfield, who was walking along Bridge street in Hatfield on Nov. 19. The man suffered a broken leg and is now confined to a hospital.

HATFIELD MAN INJURED WHEN HIT BY AUTO

Northampton, Nov. 19—John Jandzinski of Bridge street, Hatfield, was taken to Dickinson hospital tonight, suffering from multiple injuries as a result of being struck on Depot road, Hatfield, by an automobile. Jandzinski was reported to be suffering from a fracture of the left leg below the knee, concussion and multiple cuts and abrasions about the face, head and right arm. His condition is not considered critical, however.

Police Chief Arthur S. Breor of Hatfield was intercepted by local police in Northampton and told of the accident. He returned to investigate. The name of the driver of the car could not be obtained immediately, but he was reported to have stopped and assisted the injured man.

The Easthampton unit of the M. W. D. C. will act as a canteen group for the State Guard on Tuesday night. The following are asked to report: Pvts. Mary Jandzinski, Doris Johnson, Lyman and Tourville, Corp. Clementine Jarzinski, Sgt. Helen Grover.

SMITH ACADEMY GIVES DIPLOMAS TO CLASS OF 27

Dr. Harry Glick of M. S. C. Is Speaker at Annual Commencement

HATFIELD, June 20—A class of 27 was graduated from Smith Academy at commencement exercises tonight in Memorial Town Hall. With "Human factors in the growth of our democracy" was the general theme, original addresses were given by the three honor students, Tofield Wilkes, salutatorian; Thaddeus Bokina, third honors and Helen Slattery, valedictorian. Harry N. Glick, Ph.D., professor of psychology in M.S.C., gave the commencement address.

Taking for his subject, "Gold or glitter," Prof. Glick said in part:

"Things of 'gold' to me tonight are the things which presage well and are true to the core. They buoy us up and have no letdown. Things of 'glitter' are the things which deceive our expectations; the things which indicate success and happiness, but in their wake follow defeat, sorrow and disappointment. They are 'fool's gold.' Both history and our own experiences are replete with both gold and glitter.

In closing he said, "Now I want to illustrate the principle that certain values are not transferable, by referring to Smith Academy. Who of us would not cherish the honor, the prestige, the good will, the friendship, that is being bestowed upon 'Eddie' Burke. Mr. Burke won his place through the things which he did, through the things which he achieved, through the life which he lived.

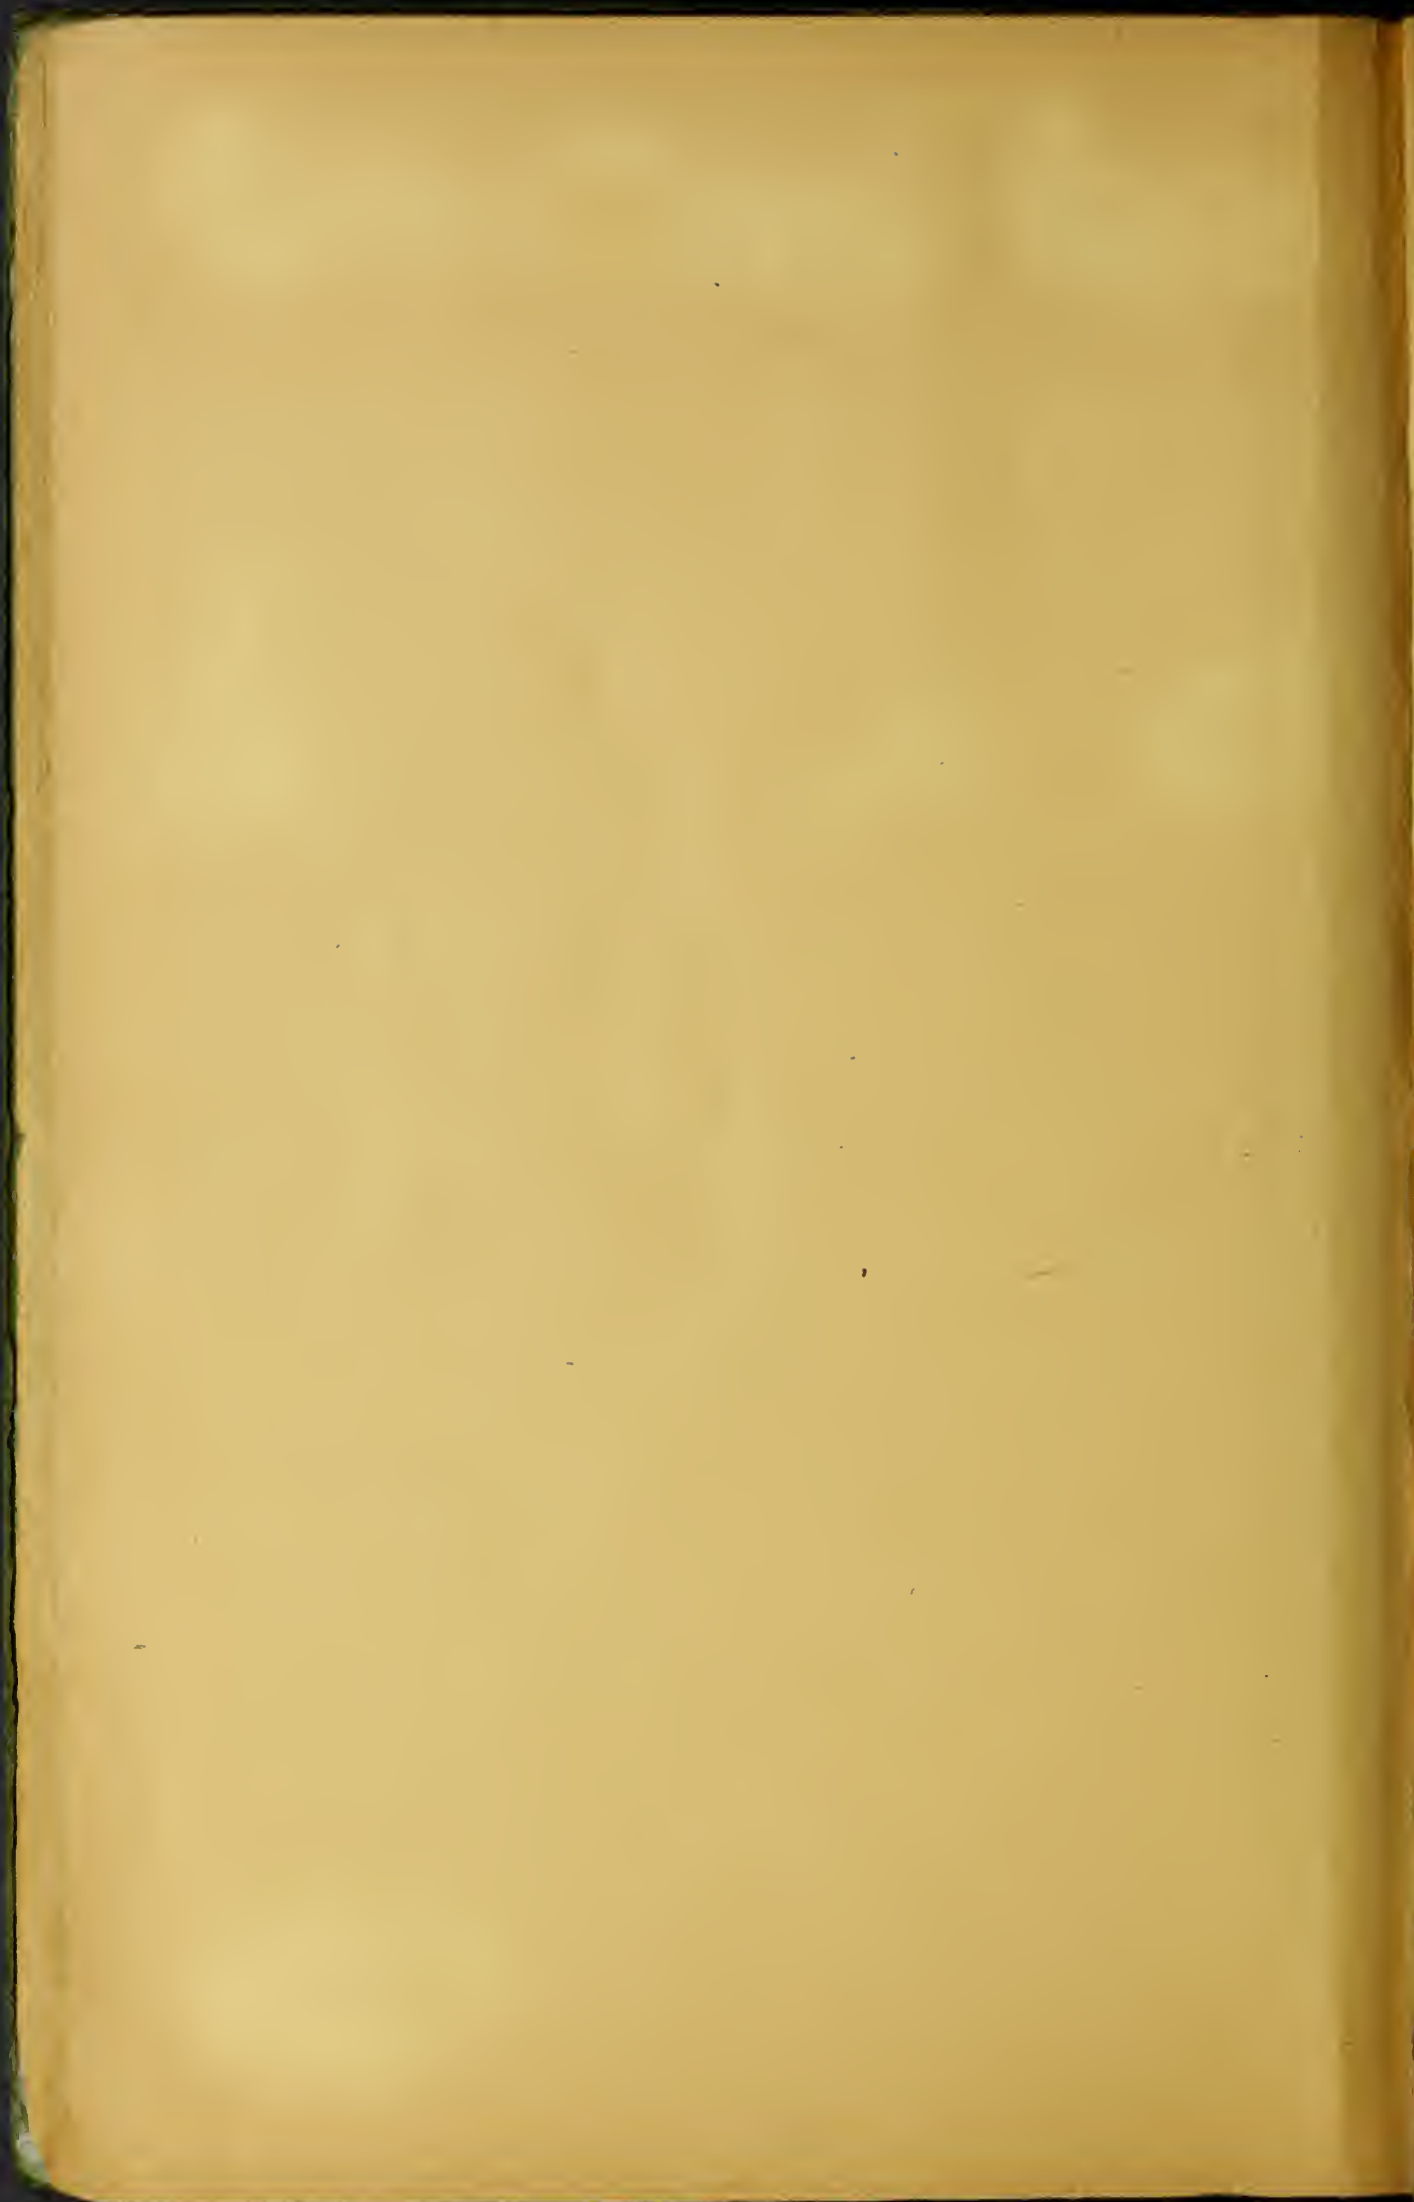

Principal Burke announced the following awards: John Jandzinski, name inscribed on the George S. Belden shield, for his "earnest work, manly bearing and interest in athletics"; Mary McGrath, name inscribed on the Class of 1927 Shield, for "earnest work, exemplary conduct and interest in school activities"; Pro Merito pins, to students of good character who have had an average of 85 per cent in all work recorded, to John Podmayer, Thaddeus Bokina, Helen Slattery, Tofield Wilkes, Blanche Gutfinski and Lucille Jablonski; Faculty Cup to the Class of 1939, as the class showing the best school spirit in the past year; Washington & Franklin medal presented by the Massachusetts Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, for excellence in the study of United States history, to Helen Slattery; Becker scholarship key, awarded to the student completing the commercial course with the highest scholarship rating, to Helen Slattery; the Woman's Endeavor Society award of $5, for the student who, "by manners and speech has contributed most to the morale of the school," to Tofield Wilkes; Rensselaer medal to John Podmayer.

Thaddeus Bokina, president, presented an autographed picture of the graduating class to Principal Burke, as this will be the last class to graduate under his regime, and William H. Dickinson, president of the board of trustees, then presented diplomas to the graduates.

Music was by the Boys' Glee Club, the Girls' Glee Club and the School Chorus, under the direction of Miss Maude E. Boyle, supervisor of music, and the student speakers were trained under the direction of Miss Mary E. Ryan, English instructor.

The graduates were Thaddeus V. Bokina, Mildred Bruscoe, John Frank Burda, Henry A. Dennis, Lillian E. Englehardt, Nina C. Galenski, Blanche Anne Gutfinski, Lucille Helen Jablonski, John J. Jandzinski, Thaddeus L. Kabat, Mary K. Kirejczyk, Janet Barbara Kochan, Charles Billings Marsh, Mary Elizabeth McGrath, Eileen Agnes Mullins, Gladys Elizabeth Mullins, Genevieve M. Petrikoski, John Podmayer, Rose Ann Rogalewski, Chester J. Skorupski, Helen Frances Slattery, Alexander E. Szewczyk, Jr., Lewis G. Wendolowski, Tofield Mary Wilkes, Mildred Zapka, Julia I. Ziczulewicz and Frederick J. Zehelski.

Decorations and ushering were by the junior class, under the direction of Principal-elect Clarence J. Larkin, faculty adviser.

Accounting For The Modern Parasite

Age ago, the Chinese say, there was a giant called Panku. He was a very hunky fellow for he grew at the dizzy rate of six feet a day, and kept growing for four thousand years! All that time Panku was busy carving the universe out of chaos, hollowing the great dome of the sky. At the end of 4000 yrs, Panku died, and it is his body that makes the earth. His veins are our rivers, his bones are our mountains his flesh is our soil. And where did men come from? Why, men are the fleas that lived on Panku's body!

FAMILY VISITORS —

Mrs. Joan Kennedy, left, wife of injured Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, escorted by former First Lady, Mrs. John F. Kennedy as pair arrived yesterday at Cooley Dickinson, Northampton, to visit him. Sen. Kennedy suffered severe back injuries Friday night when his chartered plane crashed as he was en route to Democratic State Convention at Springfield. (Story, Other Photos, Page 3)

My Nurse

A cap, a bib, an apron white,
A waist of Quaker blue.
A smile, a curl, a face so bright -
I like her - wouldn't you?

A gentle touch, appearance neat,
Her heart - it must be true;
And all the while so very sweet -
I like her - wouldn't you?

There are people who talk an awful lot but don't say much.
Others there are who never say much, yet speak volumes.
Then you see some who say a great deal and do mighty little.
And these who say little but do a great deal.

To Poor Children.

Take one large grassy field, one half dozen children, two or three small dogs, a pinch of brook and some pebbles. Mix the children and dogs well together and put them in the field, stirring constantly. Pour the brook over the pebbles; sprinkle the field with flowers; spread over all a deep blue sky and bake in hot sun. When brown, remove ^{and} to cool in the back tub,

Only to bed
And only to rise,
Is the fate of a man
When a second-hand
Cute he buys.

Junior Class Entertains

The junior class of Smith academy entertained the other classes and faculty at a party held in Memorial town hall last evening, in honor of the freshman class. The hall was prettily decorated in blue and gold, with red, white and blue bunting, and the Smith academy banner. After a welcome was extended by the junior class president, Donald Osley, there was a harmonica solo by Bernard Wilkes, a skit by Isabella Borrows and John Labbee, and then the initiation stunts. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served, and the evening closed with dancing. Music for dancing was furnished by an orchestra composed of Miss Catherine Schepp, pianist, George Rogalewski, violinist, Bernard Wilkes, guitar, and Edward Smith, drum. The party was in charge of the following committees, under the direction of Miss Mary E. Ryan, faculty adviser: Entertainment committee, Jennie Rogalewski, Esther Sakowicz, Paul Janos, Carl Bokina; refreshment committee, Edna Boyle, Anna Lovett, Donald Osley, Lillian Deinlein and Josephine Osepowicz.

Lords Letter

West Haverfield, Mass.

Mar. 23, 1932.

Mr. John Jandzinski.

My dear Sir,

I wish to express to you, in this ~~poor~~ way, my great appreciation for the nice Easter gift. I thank you very much.

I do wish to say that your son John is doing very good work in school. He is a nice boy, and his conduct is unquestioned. He is faithful in performing all of his duties.

With many thanks to you and many good wishes for this Easter time I am

Yours truly,
Harold L. Ford.
